

Values-Based Leadership in Times of Crisis & Challenge

Description:

This interactive session will offer helpful strategies and an insightful values model to enable personal resilience as you lead your team during stressful challenges in the business world.

Becky LeBlanc, University FCU

Bio:

Becky is responsible for designing organizational and leadership development programs at UFCU and ensuring execution of effective talent management systems to support strategic business objectives. Becky's career includes over 25 years in business, human resources, and organizational design & development. Her background has spanned several industries including both a domestic and international focus in the software/high tech and energy industries, and a domestic focus in health promotion and financial services. She holds a bachelor's degree from University of Louisiana.

